

RUIN IN MINNESOTA CAUSED BY WIND

TOWN OF LYLE DEMOLISHED BY A TORNADO.

Seven Persons Reported to Be Dead, Ten Fatally Injured, and Several Missing—Buildings and Cars Demolished—Cloudburst in New England—Log Booms Washed Away

Waterloo, Iowa, June 11.—Meager reports of a disastrous tornado at Lyle, Minn., have reached here. The storm struck that city from the northwest at a little before 7 o'clock Thursday night. So far as it is possible to get at the facts, seven persons were killed and ten were seriously, some fatally, injured. Several others are missing, who are supposed to be among the dead in the debris. In the path of the "twister" houses and barns were demolished and cars were blown from the railroad tracks. Nearly all telegraphic communication has been cut off.

A special train was sent over the Illinois Central from Waterloo, gathering up physicians at Osage, St. Ansgar, Mitchell and other intermediate points to care for the injured. The injured:

- Charles Larson.
- Mrs. Charles Larson and babe.
- John Brooke.
- Mrs. John Brooke.
- Mr. Hughson.
- Peter Hanson.
- Mrs. Peter Hanson.
- Robert Hanson.
- Mrs. Henry Hanson.

St. Paul, Minn., June 11.—A messenger has arrived at Adams from the vicinity of Lyle, who says six persons are dead, eight badly injured and ten missing. Several Lyle buildings were blown down, including a schoolhouse. Several cars of the Chicago & Great Western were blown off the tracks. Many farm buildings were wrecked and live stock suffered severely.

Midnight dispatches from points on the Chicago Great Western railroad indicate that the tornado killed half a dozen people, wrecking many buildings and doing much damage to crops and live stock. Lyle is headquarters of the Kansas City division of the Great Western, but every wire leading directly to that village is down.

A report by way of Preston, Fillmore county, Minnesota, says that seven persons were killed between the towns of Lyle and Adams. A dispatch from Oelwein, Iowa, says that the loss to property will reach $100,000.

The train dispatcher of the Great Western in St. Paul says he can get no dispatches farther south than Ramsey, Minn., which point reports a big storm, but is without knowledge as to the extent of the damage.

Lyle has about 350 inhabitants and the township of Lyle has a population of 700.

From the reports at hand it is learned that the storm swept through Lyle, Adams and Taopi in Minnesota, and then turned southward into Iowa.

Mason City, Iowa, June 11.—A telegram from Willmar says that a tornado passing over the town of Kandiohi entirely demolished the buildings on the farm of John Berquist.

A special from Osage, Iowa, confirms the report of the tornado, and says that six persons were killed and a number injured.

NEW ENGLAND CLOUDBURST.

Vast Amount of Damage Done—Serious Washouts Reported.

Boston, Mass., June 11.—New England was visited by a storm Wednesday night which, from the amount of damage done, it seems, was one of the worst in many years. Although according to official records the actual amount of rain was not unusual, but it came down in great violence.

The railroads suffered most severely, particularly the Boston & Maine, and its branches in New Hampshire. Wrecks occurred at Exeter and Seabrook, and trains were stalled in many other places by serious washouts. On this account traffic between Boston and the north and east was greatly impeded. From Vermont and New Hampshire comes news of swollen rivers, the height of which approaches that reached in the famous freshets of the spring of 1896.

At Dover, N. H., where in 1896 four bridges and a business block were carried away by the floods, the Cocheo mills were compelled to suspend operations, and at Amesbury, Mass., work in the carriage factories was impeded by flooded cellars. Considerable damage to crops is also reported.

Log Boom Washed Away.

Springfield, Mass., June 11.—The boom at Turner's Falls, Mass., broke at 4:30 o'clock this morning, releasing about 80,000,000 feet of logs. There is no way of stopping this boom or the one that broke at Bellows Falls, Vt., until they reach Mount Tom, near Northampton. The dam of the Warner Manufacturing Company at Greenfield broke. It was built of solid rock, and was fifty feet long and twelve feet high. A portion of the dam of Eddy & Son also gave way. At Charlestown, Mass., a sawmill dam owned by H. T. Ford went out.

Heavy Rainfall in Vermont.

Bellows Falls, Vt., June 11.—For the last thirty-six hours the rainfall in this region has been continuous. The

TALK ABOUT SUGAR STILL CONTINUES

DEMOCRATIC OPPOSITION TO THE TAX.

Southern Senators Claim the Proposed Tariff Will Bring Enormous Profits to the Sugar Trust—President Favors Home Rule For Cuba—Speaker Reed Had a Close Call.

Washington, June 11.—The long deferred debate in the sugar schedule of the tariff bill came on abruptly at 1 o'clock Thursday. Mr. Jones (Ark.) opened the debate, to some extent answering Mr. Aldrich's statement on the sugar schedule. It was argumentative, and the senator held that the rates proposed gave the refiners an excessive differential and pointed out how they had thrived on the one-eighth differential of the present law.

Mr. Jones read letters from sugar men, criticizing the Hawaiian reciprocity treaty and declaring that its benefits accrued entirely to the sugar interests of San Francisco and Hawaii, while taking millions out of the pockets of the people.

Mr. Vest (Dem., Mo.) followed Mr. Jones in criticisms of the general features of the sugar schedule. He said it involved the whole question of the existence of the gigantic sugar trust, which had absorbed refinery after refinery until it was supreme and all-powerful in the field. The Lexow investigation had disclosed the enormous profits of this trust. It showed, he said, a capital of $75,000,000 common stock and $75,000,000 preferred stock, an aggregate of $150,000,000 with profits of 12 per cent on its common stock and 7 per cent on the preferred stock. It was an open, bold, admitted trust. In conclusion Mr. Vest declared that the schedule deluded the public in the interest of this "gigantic monopoly."

Mr. Caffery (La.) spoke of the scandal of 1894 over the sugar schedule produced by the rapacity of the sugar trust. It was to be repeated now. There were consumed in this country 4,000,000,000 pounds of sugar annually. If the trust was to receive half a cent a pound, as this schedule proposed, that would mean $20,000,000 to the trust. Here, then, was the impelling cause which brought this great corporation to Washington to look after its interests. The trust never lost. All it wanted was sufficient tariff to then it had the American consumer at keep out the foreign producer and its mercy.

No final action was taken on any feature of the schedule further than the withdrawal of the original senate amendments. This leaves the house provisions of the bill with an amendment increasing the house differential from $75-1,000 to 95-100 cent a pound. The provision relating to the Hawaiian Islands went over by mutual consent.

Early in the day Mr. Tillman (S. C.) made a lively speech in favor of the amendment giving an export duty on agricultural products. The amendment was defeated, 10 to 59.

HOME RULE FOR CUBA.

McKinley Will Not, However, Advocate Independence for the Island.

Washington, June 11.—Special Commissioner Calhoun left for his home at Danville, Ill., Thursday night. He remained in Washington after the president's departure for Nashville to attend to some business at the state department. He will return to Washington to continue his report on the condition of affairs in Cuba, after the president's return, and it is expected that by that time the president will have decided upon a new minister to Spain, and that the three will discuss the situation together.

It can be stated upon the most trustworthy information that the president will not advocate the independence of Cuba, but will favor genuine home rule for the island.

Close Call for Speaker Reed.

Washington, June 11.—Speaker Reed was given a close call Thursday when the usual motion for a three days' adjournment was made in the house. The opponents of his policy came within one vote of making the first successful stand against it. When adjournment was moved the rising vote resulted in a tie, 87 to 87. Speaker Reed saved the motion by voting aye. Demands for the yeas and nays came from both sides and the roll was called, when the motion was carried, 101 yeas to 88 nays.

A WARSHIP IS SENT TO CUBAN WATERS

VESSEL LEAVES BOSTON UNDER SEALED ORDERS.

The New York, Flagship of the North Atlantic Squadron, Puts to Sea After Elaborate Preparations—Her Actual Destination Not Known—Navy Department Officials Reticent

Boston, Mass., June 11.—The United States cruiser New York, the flagship of the North Atlantic squadron, with Rear-Admiral Montgomery Sicard on board, steamed out of the harbor at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon, not a soul on board knowing to what port she is bound, for it will only be when the big white cruiser is well outside of Boston light, with her pilot over the side, that the sealed orders from Washington will be opened and her destination ascertained.

It is generally believed, however, that when she reaches Cape Cod she will turn her nose to the southward, and that her twin screws will not stop until she is somewhere in the immediate neighborhood of Cuba; for when she started she was fully provisioned and coaled, and could, if necessary, go as far as Gibraltar or Rio Janeiro without laying in more supplies.

That Rear-Admiral Sicard must have had some inkling of an important cruise seems probable from the fact that for the last few days the entire crew of the New York has been hard at work getting the ship ready for sea, while her coal bunkers have been filled to overflowing.

Reticence at Navy Department.

Washington, June 11.—The navy department officials were singularly reserved about the movements of the New York, and showed a reluctance to answer any questions. Secretary Long, in answer to a direct interrogation, replied: "The New York is not going to Cuba; she will be next heard from at some point on the Atlantic coast well north of Cuba." It is surmised that the navy department, which has been charged of late with the duty of looking after filibusters, has been advised of the intention of some formidable expeditions bound for Cuba to put out from some northern port, possibly out of Delaware bay.

Train Robbers Captured.

Hammond, Ind., June 11.—Seven well dressed men, evidently from Chicago, endeavored to hold up and rob the east bound Lake Shore train at Whiting, Ind., shortly after 3 o'clock Thursday. They held up the conductor the point of a revolver and attempted to muzzle the engineer. In some manner or other not explained, one or two shots were fired, and the reports attracted the ear of Night Patrolman Pinkerton, who hastened to the scene. He was followed by Officer McCarthy. The robbers were captured after a short fight and lodged in jail.

Waterspout in Colorado.

Ouray, Colo., June 11.—A waterspout flooded the country hereabout last night. The Republican river rose rapidly, carrying away and drowning stock in the valley. Trains are delayed and are running cautiously. Hail accompanied the rain and in a few minutes fell to the depth of several inches. Hailstones the size of hens' eggs fell at first and it is feared they killed cattle and horses on the ranges. So far as known at present no lives have been lost. The extent of damage to growing crops cannot be estimated, but it is feared that it is immense.

Special Session Not Likely.

Springfield, Ill., June 11.—When asked regarding the possibility of a special session, Gov. Tanner said: "So far as I know now, there will be no special session of this legislature. There was need of a revenue bill and of apportionment bills. The legislature failed to pass them. I have no thought, at the present time, of calling the legislature back, and I see nothing in the existing conditions to make me think I shall change my mind on the subject."

Three Train Hands Killed.

Exeter, N. H., June 11.—The most serious freight wreck on the Boston and Maine railroad in many months occurred about a quarter of a mile east of this station at 1:30 o'clock on Thursday. The Portland and Boston through night freight ran into a wash-out at Fernald's culvert. The locomotive and seven cars were demolished, and three men were killed.

AT THE CREAM CITY

NEW OFFICERS WERE CHOSEN YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

W. S. Robson, of La Grange, Texas, Is Chosen As Supreme Master Workman—It Is Practically Settled That the Ontario Grand Lodge Will Sever Connection With American Milwaukee, Wis., June 11.—The supreme lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen occupied almost its entire morning session Thursday in discussing the question of having applicants for membership undergo an examination before they are balloted for in the lodge. It was decided to allow the present law to stand. It was also decided that a grand jurisdiction cannot be subdivided on account of unusual mortality in a certain part of a state.

Elections of officers were held in the afternoon. Supreme Master Workman J. G. Tate of Grand Island, Neb., became past supreme master workman, and Supreme Foreman W. S. Robson of La Grange, Tex., was elected to the post of supreme master workman. It is practically settled that the Ontario grand lodge will sever all connections with the order. The supreme lodge special committee decided to refuse the request of the Ontario delegates to continue fraternal relations and end financial connection with the general order. The case has been placed in the hands of the new supreme officers, and the expulsion of the Ontario branch, it is said on authority, will be ordered.

CLERGYMEN SLAIN IN CHINA

Roman Catholic Priests Massacred by Fanatics.

Vancouver, B. C., June 11.—Anti-Christian riots have taken place in Liu Ching, China. A mob of fanatics, loudly proclaiming that Roman Catholics had kidnapped their children, rushed simultaneously on the mission buildings. In the fierce fight that ensued three Christians were killed outright, eight wounded and four captured. Particulars are coming in meagerly. The Rev. Father Mazelis is among the Roman Catholics killed.

The wildly yelling mob attacked the rear and front of the priest's residence, but with the help of friendly natives he barricaded the back and faced the mob in front with a rifle, but the barricades were broken down. The priest was shot and his body hacked to pieces.

Scores by Urbana Tragedy.

Cincinnati, June 11.—It was developed in testimony at the inquest on the death of Alfred Quick, who committed suicide, that the motive was to escape mob vengeance. Quick had been discovered in an attempted assault upon a 10-year-old girl, and with the Urbana incident fresh in his mind took his own life rather than risk death at the hands of a mob.

Russian Province Inundated.

Sebastopol, June 11.—Advices from Simferopol, capital of the province of Taurida, say that torrential rains have fallen in that district, inundating a portion of the province. THIRTY-EIGHTH BIENNIAL LUTHERAN SYNOD AT MANSFIELD, OHIO.

Mansfield, O., June 11.—The thirty-eighth biennial Lutheran general synod formally convened in the First Lutheran church at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. The first order of business was the election of officers and the following were chosen: The Rev. Dr. M. W. Hamma, Altoona, Pa., president; the Rev. Dr. William S. Freese, York, Pa., secretary; Louis Mars, Cincinnati, treasurer. The synod decided that the hours for sessions should be from 9 to 11:30 o'clock in the morning and from 2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Rev. George Scholl of Baltimore, Md., secretary of the foreign mission board, submitted his report. It showed that for the first time in twenty years a deficiency exists in the treasury. Secretary Scholl explained that this deficiency amounted to $7,176, and was due mainly to a falling off in receipts from legacies, the partial failure of the coffee crop and the failure of the synods in raising the apportionment laid upon them. The Rev. A. R. Steck of Gettysburg, Pa., asked how many Sunday schools there were in the synod, and was told there were 1,335, of which only 623 responded to the call for collections for foreign missions.

The report of the board of foreign missions said the receipts for the two years and one month closing April 30 last were $85,121, of which $55,195 came from the synods, $20,436 from the Woman's Missionary society, $2,687 from legacies and $3,215 from the sale of African coffee. These receipts, with a balance of $11,555, made a total of $96,677 for the general and special work of the board during the last two years. The expenditures for all purposes were $96,220. The board asked for an appropriation of $70,000 for the prosecution of its work during the next two years.

Will Not Give Up Thessaly.

London, June 11.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Standard says: "At Tuesday's conference of the ambassadors for the discussion of the terms of peace, Tewfik Pasha was present, armed with categorical instructions to persist in the retention of Thessaly given him by the sultan personally. The decision arrived at was that the evacuation of Thessaly was impossible, but that there was no necessity for precipitate action. It was decided to continue actively the preparations for war."

The correspondent of the Daily Mail at Athens says: "Extraordinary rumors are current as to the attitude of Germany. It is alleged that the German government seeks to overthrow the Greek dynasty and to establish a rigorous control of Greek finances. In order to attain this double object Germany wants a continuance of the war and to have the terms of peace finally dictated in Athens."

Bishop Fallows' Act Indorsed.

New York, June 11.—At the second day's session of the general council of the Reformed Episcopal church Bishop Samuel Fallows of Chicago told of the part he took in the ordination of Balington Booth as a minister in Chicago some months ago. Bishop Fallows' action was indorsed with one dissenting vote. A resolution favoring the prohibition of liquor traffic was adopted. Treasurer John Heins of Philadelphia was re-elected. Presiding Bishop Fallows appointed a committee to prepare a memorial to the postmaster general asking that postoffices be closed on Sunday and mail trains be not run on that day.

SIGHTLESS PUPILS AND THEIR WORK

HOW THE BLIND ARE TAUGHT AT STATE SCHOOL.

The Children Are Cheerful and Happy In Spite of Their Affliction—Staff Correspondent of the Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin Tells of What He Saw On Graduation Day.

A staff correspondent of the Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin, who attended the graduating exercises at the State School for the Blind, wrote this article for that paper:

"Could every parent of a blind child have been present yesterday at the closing exercises of the Wisconsin School for the Blind, the number of inmates in the institution would be doubled, if not trebled, next year. It is a strange fact, to be accounted for only by the sensitiveness of the blind, that the greatest difficulty is experienced in getting the afflicted children into the institution, notwithstanding that admission to it is a blessing to be received without price. A single visit would convince any parent that it was his duty to place his child in the institution, and once there the child would not leave until the completion of the course, or some unfortunate circumstances compelled him to. The state has spared no expense to provide an institution where this class of unfortunate can be cared for and taught to care for themselves so far as it is possible for a blind person to care for himself. Only a very wealthy parent could begin to make his child as comfortable and happy as he is in the school. Here his every want is anticipated, he is surrounded by those who are similarly afflicted, and he has the guidance of those skilled in the art of teaching the blind, an art of which the parents know next to nothing.

Act Like Seeing People.

"The first thing that strikes the visitor to the school is the absence of anything which would indicate that it was peopled by an afflicted class. He sees children running around laughing and chatting; the sound of music comes from the upper rooms; he hears the recitations of classes, and in the shops he finds boys at work, deftly handling their materials and acting not at all like blind people. It is the great aim of the institution to teach self-reliance, and so well is it taught that the visitor must look close to detect the blindness of the boys and girls by their actions. Looking at the little girls running up and down stairs as fast as their feet can carry them, one finds it hard to believe that they are blind.

"The children who come to the school are taught the ordinary branches of learning, and in addition are instructed in such light handicrafts as the blind can do. The course of study is the same as in any high school, except that chemistry and one or two other things, impossible for the blind to take, are omitted. The girls are taught to sew and cook, and the boys to make brooms, mattresses, nets and hammocks, to tune pianos and to weave carpets. It does not seem possible, and yet it is true, that a skilled man will turn out eighteen or twenty brooms a day, made as perfectly as a seeing man could make them. One man or boy will also make four mattresses in a day. At present, the shops are supplying the state institutions with brooms, and they recently turned out 300 mattresses for the new Chippewa Falls home. The boys make a great many nets and hammocks, and find ready sale for them. It would seem that the making of a hammock or net would be a difficult thing for a blind person to make, but they say that it is really easy. It would also seem next to impossible for it to be done, and some very pretty rag carpets are turned out of the weaving room. The shuttles are laid before the weavers in the order in which the colors are to appear and that enables them to weave the design. The girls not only learn to sew what is laid out for them, but actually get so proficient that they can cut their own garments, impossible as that may seem. It will readily be believed that it takes a vast amount of patience on the part of the instructors to teach the boys and girls all these things and the ordinary studies besides.

Fingers Take the Place of Eyes

"As a matter of course, the fingers take the place of eyes to a great extent, and the devices which have been contrived to convey intelligence through the hands are ingenious enough. Geography, for instance, is taught by means of relief maps, instead of books. Each map is a sort of board upon which is marked the configuration of the country, its divisions, etc. When text books are used they are printed in the point language, the so-called New York system being used. Each page of such a book presents a surface of raised dots which are meaningless to the un-ted, but full of meaning to the educated blind. A very few sentences fill a page, and the bible, for instance, printed in the point language, makes eleven very large volumes. A little printing office, run by a deaf and dumb girl from the Delavan school, prints the lessons and short stories in the point language.

"Unlike the Delavan school, which consists of a large number of buildings, this school comprises only two structures, not taking the power plant into account. Everything but the shops is contained in the main building. The shops occupy a structure close at hand and the power plant is in another building located far enough away to reduce the danger of fire to a minimum. Unlike many of the other state institutions this school burned some years ago, a heating plant in the basement being the cause and the state has now learned to put power plants in separate buildings. The main part of the central building is a four story structure, the upper floors of which are used for dormitories. The superintendent's quarters are in the central part of it and the offices and reception rooms on the first floor. The 'new' part completed a year ago, contains the gymnasium, a fine large room with a stage and a loft soon to be filled by a pipe organ, the girl's hospital, the teachers' rooms and a number of class rooms. In the old part is a hospital for boys. The matrons have large rooms in which are a number of cots and each matron takes care of a number of the smaller boys or girls. There is a pleasant kindergarten, where the little ones are taught to and it is just like a kindergarten for seeing children. In the basement is the cooking school, where the girls are taught to cook and the dining rooms. The food served to the children is not prepared any differently than it would be for seeing children and they use their knives, forks and spoons without very great difficulty.

Have Plenty of Amusements.

"The children are kept reasonably busy during the day. They have ten study periods of forty minutes each, and in addition do a considerable amount of work. The boys saw and split the wood and tend to the lawns, while the girls do light housework. But it is not all work. A great deal of attention is paid to amusements, and physical training. There are six classes in physical culture and they do wonderful work for blind people. In the evening the children are read to. The younger ones listen to stories while the older ones hear the news of the day read from newspapers. Games of different kinds are provided and music and singing are indulged in to a very great extent. Music appears to be their greatest pleasure. There are several music rooms and not less than a dozen pianos in the institution. Music is to be heard at almost any hour of the day from one room or another. For many years the institution has had an orchestra and the present one is a remarkable one. It consists of young men from 15 to 18 years of age, who, under the leadership of Mrs. J. H. Jones, have become wonderfully proficient. Its members are Herbert Adams, Edward Raabe, Joseph Heil, Fred Belongia, Joseph Langenkamp, Charles Root, Leo Lange, Chester Parish, Joseph Bergs, Carl Nelson, Leo Heck, Robert Barnes, Otto Wuttke and John Wilson. It rendered several selections yesterday, which added very much to the success of the graduating exercises.

Boys Play at Politics.

"To amuse them and at the same time aid them in the study of civil government, Superintendent Bliss allowed the boys to organize a city government in the school, and the experiment has been a source of endless fun as well as of considerable instruction. The school, designated the city of New Athens, was divided into wards, a common council and city officials elected and a lot of laws adopted. There is a police court, and every offender against the rules of the institution is arrested and tried. The council meets every Wednesday evening and, while no boodling has been discovered, the meetings are very lively and interesting. The city had an election last spring, and it was a hot one. Following the example of the state at large it went democratic, notwithstanding that it is ordinarily republican by a large majority. The flop came about through the generosity of a lot of the republicans. They thought things would be more interesting if the election was closer than usual and they determined to unite with the democrats for the time being. Unfortunately they forgot to count noses before the ballot was taken and when the returns came in it was discovered that New Athens had gone democratic by a close vote. Supt. Bliss says that the experiment has resulted in a marked improvement in the civil government class.

The school has accommodations for 125 children but it is seldom filled on account of the difficulty of finding the blind children and inducing them to enter the institution. It is estimated that not more than 20 per cent of the blind population of school age is in the school. The institution is in good shape but a number of improvements are contemplated by the board if the next legislature can be induced to be more liberal.

The Faculty.

"Howard F. Bliss is the superintendent and steward; Miss Lizzie J. Curtis, the matron, and Miss Jennie L. Kendall, the clerk. The teachers are: Literary department—Miss S. Augusta Watson, Miss Alice Fellows, Miss Elizabeth M. Abbott, Miss Frances H. Benson, Miss Elizabeth Houghton, Mrs. Mary Tuttle; music department—Mrs.

Thirty-four diplomas tied with thirty-four blue ribbons lay on a table on the opera house stage last night.

Thirty-four pupils stood in a semi-circle and waited for their names to be called by President Clemons of the school board.

When the thirty-four diplomas had been distributed among the thirty-four pupils, the school life in Janesville—of the thirty-four members of the class of 1897, came to an end with the realization of the object sought in these years of hard study and work.

The pupils who spoke from the stage at the Myers' Grand last night, were a credit to the city and the schools.

Music Opened the Program.

The program began at 8 o'clock, with music by the High school orchestra. Then the Linden Quartette, the famous Chicago organization, whose members have charmed Janesville audiences on other occasions, sang "The Minstrel Boy." The quartette is one of the best on the road, and their singing was fully appreciated by the large audience. Each number was encoored, and at the close "The Grasshopper Cantata" which had been sung here before, was repeated by special request.

"Prayer by Rev. Arthur H. Barrington preceded the orations. Miss Edith J. Raymond was the first speaker, and she spoke of "Edgar Allen Poe," and charmed her hearers with the feeling plea for the great poet.

Henry W. Scott was the next speaker. His subject was "Good Citizenship," and although he labored under the disadvantage of being called upon before his turn, owing to an accident to the curtain used by the stereopticon, he did remarkably well and was enthusiastically applauded.

Miss Gertrude J. Skavlem's oration was on the subject "Selfishness the Motive Power," and was forceful and entertaining. It showed that Miss Skavlem saw below the surface of things and got at the meat of the question. She told of instances where selfishness had inspired men to do great things and thus become great men. It is not wrong for people to exercise the talents that God had given them, she said, and selfishness had given the world some of its greatest achievements. Miss Skavlem's delivery was excellent and added to the charm of her thoughtful paper.

Everett Fisher's Theme.

Everett C. Fisher spoke on the subject "Love, the True Artist," and made an excellent impression. His delivery was especially effective, and the strong points of his oration were brought out in bold relief. In thought and composition his effort also excelled, and well merited applause was given him.

Miss Agnes E. Lynch told of "Vibration in Sound" and her paper was very interesting. A chart thrown on a large canvass by a stereopticon was used effectively in illustrating her oration and helped to make it of especial value to the hearers.

Miss Katherine E. Mackin told of the "Physics of Music." She too had a chart, that enabled her to explain to the audience, the relations of notes, chords, and scales. The theme was a new one, and to a person who had not made an exhaustive study of the subject, intensely interesting. Miss Mackin understood the matter fully, and her descriptions were clearly presented.

Miss Nellie D. Mable told about "Orators." Patrick Henry worked on the patriotic impulses of his hearers, and aroused them to a pitch that could have been reached in no other manner. Daniel Webster had so swayed the senate that when he finished, only the speaker's gavel brought the members back from the height to which they had soared. Oratory, she said, was one of the things that ruled men. Miss Mable's delivery was excellent.

About the Theatres.

Miss Anna E. Cullen told how Janesville's hills and plains were formed, in her oration on "Evidence of Glacial Action About Janesville." The stereopticon was used during her remarks and enabled her to make her explanations perfectly clear. The subject was one that interested her hearers greatly and was handled in a peculiarly effective manner.

Miss Metcalf's Theme.

The temples of ancient Greece gave Miss Jessie M. Metcalf the material for her oration on "Architecture." Stereopticon pictures were used to show the different kinds of columns used, and also to illustrate the different styles of architecture. Miss Metcalf's oration was one of the best heard.

Pictures of the noted theatres of Greece, thrown on the canvas by the stereopticon, helped to make Miss Lulu F. Leffingwell's oration on "Theatres," of unusual interest. Miss Leffingwell had considered her theme well, and clothed her ideas in excellent language. She won warm applause, and merited it, too.

Walter D. Clark gave a practical illustration of "Speed in Shorthand" by taking a business letter from Supt. Maynes' dictation on a subject with which he was not familiar. He told of the discovery and development of phonography showing that he had given the subject much study. He finished his theme by transcribing his notes on the typewriter.

Miss Katherine Enright spoke of "The Greatest Factor in Progress," her oration being the one delivered in the High school contest. Miss Enright is evidently a deep thinker and speaks with a grace and ease that adds force to the thoughts presented.

Miss Luella A. Conroy won enthusiastic applause with her "Message of the Nineteenth Century to the Twentieth." Miss Conroy had considered her theme well, and reasoned with force that excellent delivery accentuated.

Miss Lucy Akin made a plea for the enforcement of the regulations on the statute books in her thesis on "The Sovereignty of Law." Few laws, well enforced, she held, were better than many. One law that became a dead letter, weakened the force of all the rest. Miss Akin's oration was delivered during the contest in the spring, and was a very meritorious composition.

Miss Grace Spoon's thesis had to do with "Carbonic Dioxide," and was illustrated with experiments. It was one of the novel subjects treated during the evening, and showed that Miss Spoon had made a careful study of chemistry.

Charles W. Raymond, Jr. delivered the last oration, his theme "Or at." Mr. Raymond has a sonorous voice, and could be heard in all parts of the house. His thesis was one of the best of the evening, and made a deep impression.

President F. L. Clemons of the school board, then presented the diplomas with a few words of advice and congratulation, and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. A. H. Barrington.

AN INJUSTICE TO THE TOWN.

How the "Brain Surgery Case" Came to Be Investigated.

Monticello, Wis., June 9.—Editor Gazette.—In your account in The Gazette of Saturday June 5, of the now famous case of brain surgery at this place, you speak of our citizens—all of them—in a way to hurt our feelings.

It is true, that at first, we learned of the state of the dead man's brain through a citizen of Janesville, there being perhaps, no one else present at the post mortem who would or could have told about the matter. But many of our people knew it all within an hour after the finishing of the post mortem. And one of our citizens who left town that morning, not knowing even that there was to be a post mortem that day, informed himself at the county seat, and on returning that evening, and before coming into the village or learning the results of the post mortem, or even entering his house or eating his supper, found a justice of the peace and called for an inquest, which was started at once.

So you see if the Janesville man had not been here at all, the inquest and the second post mortem would have been held just the same. CITIZEN.

DO NOT DODGE THE WHEEL.

Go Right Ahead, and the Cyclers Will Do Likewise.

When one is walking across the street and sees a cyclist coming and very near to him, he should not hesitate or stop to let the rider pass, but continue his way and pay no attention to him. If the pedestrian does this, the cyclist will pass by and there will be no necessity or danger of an accident. On the other hand, when the pedestrian stops, then takes a step forward, then two steps backward, and doesn't know what to do, he causes the cyclist to be in the same fix, and as a result the front wheel of the bicycle may meet with the one walking and each is angry at the other for his awkwardness.

MEET AT A FEAST IN A MILTON HOME

COLLEGE STUDENTS JOIN IN A BANQUET.

Seniors Entertain the Juniors At the Home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Clarke—Joseph Palmer was the Toastmaster, and Gaiety Reigned Supreme—Some Other News.

(THE GAZETTE AGENCY
W. W. CLARKE, Manager,
Milton, Wis., June 11, 1897.)

On Wednesday evening the Senior class of Milton college tendered the Juniors a banquet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Clarke, whose daughter is a member of the Senior class. The guests, who numbered twenty, spent the early part of the evening in visiting and recalling past exploits. When the clock struck ten the doors of the commodious dining room were thrown open and the guests marched to their respective places around the banquet table. In an adjoining room could be heard the sweet strains of music. The sweet scented flowers that adorned the tables and surrounding walls poured forth their inmost fragrance and lent such a charming appearance as to remind one of the poetical Paradise of Milton. The supper was served in seven courses by J. D. Clarke and E. H. Pullan, who acquitted themselves in an admirable manner. A continual hum of jokes and laughter kept the realization of ever fleeting time in oblivion, while the sweet flavored food caused care to be a thing of the past. When the finger bowl had made its circuit, Mr. David Ring in a few well chosen words nominated Mr. Joseph Palmer for toastmaster, who accepted the proffered position with flowery words of praise, and introduced the following speakers: Lester M. Babcock on the subject of "Disappointment." Mr. Babcock, who is a member of the class of '98, proved himself to be very familiar with his subject, quoting several passages from Shakespeare to verify his statements. He was greeted with a round of applause. The next speaker was H. N. Wheeler, who gave a toast on "Who Are We." The speaker was original throughout and produced a pleasing effect. Miss Grace Spaulding '98 was then introduced and gave toast "Our Choice." She handled her subject in a practical way and showed that a woman is not as easily pleased as usually supposed. Frank Shaw was presented next, and had for his toast "Evolution." He was witty and humorous, and did the "toast act" to perfection. Mr. Palmer then made a few pertinent remarks, congratulating the Juniors and Seniors on the good feeling that existed among them. The toastmaster proved himself to be a "roaster," while the other speakers carried off the honor as "toasters."

Deal Gently With the Stomach.
If it proves refractory, mild discipline is the thing to set it right. Not all the nauseous draughts and houses ever invented can do half as much to remedy its disorders as a few wine-glassfuls—say, three a day—of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which will afford it speedy relief, and eventually banish every dyspeptic and bilious symptom. Sick headache, nervousness, salivaceous of the complexion, fur upon the tongue, vertigo, and those many indescribable and disagreeable sensations caused by indigestion, are too often perpetuated by injudicious dosing. An immediate abandonment of such random and ill advised experiments should be the first step in the direction of a cure; the next step the use of this standard tonic alternative, which has received the highest medical sanction and won unprecedented popularity.

BERRY CROP GOOD IN SPITE OF FROST

RAIN HAS DONE WONDERS FOR SMALL FRUIT.

Home Grown Strawberries Beginning to Come Into the Market But the Season Will Not Be At Its Height Before July 4—Prices Are Firm and the Fruit Good.

Home strawberries began to come into the Janesville market today. They were few and small, but next week will see plenty.

The price? Well, one lot of really choice Rock county berries brought 12 1/2 cents, while Michigan berries that looked every bit as good, sold for 8 cents right beside them.

When people want the breath of the hills and the zest of the open air with their breakfast, they pay for home grown strawberries and are satisfied.

It has been feared for the last three weeks that home strawberries would be a very light crop. The warm rain that fell yesterday afternoon did a world of good, however, and a big yield is promised. Moreover, the 1897 berry will be unusually large. For the past four weeks strawberries have been on the market at prices within reach of the masses, and from the large amounts sold it would appear that the people are as fond as ever of the fruit of this species of the Rosaceae genus.

Dealers say that not in years have southern grown berries been placed upon the market at such low prices, in such great quantities and of such excellence. The cool weather of the past spring has been just the thing for handling berries, and they can be brought here from a great distance in perfect condition.

How the Berries Come.
The first strawberries seen upon the market come from Florida. As the season advances the source from which the fruit is obtained gradually goes north until the Illinois berries arrive, followed by the Indiana and Ohio fruit. The large berries seen on the market during the past few days come from Ohio. Although in the same latitude with Illinois the Ohio berries are later than those from the Sucker state. The Michigan berries come into the market next, and cut a big figure with the market for Wisconsin berries, which follow.

Two Crops Don't Conflict This Year
If the Michigan berries precede the home grown berries and are out of the way before the latter come into the market, the home berries fetch a higher price than the outside berries. If, however, the season is backward in the Wolverine state and its fruit comes into the market with the Wisconsin fruit, the prices remain down. The home crop this season is from two to three weeks late, and will really not be at its best much before July 4, at which date the crop in ordinary years is out of the market. The plants are now just going out of blossom. There is every reason to predict a large and excellent crop from the gardens in the vicinity of the city, although in some places the plants are said to have been touched with frost. At present the plants look strong and healthy.

Other Berries Scarce.
The amount of strawberries raised in the gardens in this vicinity is much more than enough to supply the home trade and quantities are shipped outside every year in which the crop is prosperous.

There will be comparatively few other berries this year to compete with the strawberry crop. Blackberries will be small, judging from the specimens that have been shown.

Raspberries, red and black, will soon be seen in the markets, and currants will soon follow. The home raspberries are now in blossom and the crop will be late in getting upon the market. Blackberries are not raised great quantities about the city, but the quantity of raspberries raised is unusually large. Red currants are raised in quantities also, and will be in the market some time in July.

When bilious or constive, eat a candy cathartic, cure guaranteed, 10 and 25 cents.

Preserving Time.
It's almost if not quite time for every housewife to think of the preserving of some of the fruits for the season's use.

We have just received a very large invoice of fruit jars in anticipation of our usual large sale. We have them in pints, quarts and two quarts and guarantee the quality and price. Sanborn & Co.

THE HEAT PLAGUE OF AUGUST, 1896.

Mrs. Pinkham's Explanation of the Unusual Number of Deaths and Prostrations Among Women.

The great heat plague of August, 1896, was not without its lesson. One could not fail to notice in the long lists of the dead throughout this country, that so many of the victims were women in their thirties, and women between forty-five and fifty.

The women who succumbed to the protracted heat were women whose energies were exhausted by sufferings peculiar to their sex; women who, taking no thought of themselves, or who, attaching no importance to first symptoms, allowed their female system to become run down.

Constipation, capricious appetite, restlessness, forebodings of evil, vertigo, languor, and weakness, especially in the morning, an itching sensation which suddenly attacks one at night, or whenever the blood becomes overheated, are all warnings. Don't wait too long to build up your strength, that is now a positive necessity! Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has specific curative powers. You cannot do better than to commence a course of this grand medicine. By the neglect of first symptoms you will see by the following letter what terrible suffering came to Mrs. Craig, and how she was cured:

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and think it is the best medicine for women in the world. I was so weak and nervous that I thought I could not live from one day to the next. I had prolapsus uteri and leucorrhoea and thought I was going into consumption. I would get so faint I thought I would die. I had dragging pains in my back, burning sensation down to my feet, and so many miserable feelings. People said that I looked like a dead woman. Doctors tried to cure me, but failed. I had given up when I heard of the Pinkham medicine. I got a bottle. I did not have much faith in it, but thought I would try it, and it made a new woman of me. I wish I could get every lady in the land to try it, for it did for me what doctors could not do."—MRS. SALLIE CRAIG, Baker's Landing, Pa.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

- 1294—Roger Bacon, commonly called Friar Bacon, scholar, alchemist and liberal writer, died at Oxford; born 1214.
1776—The Continental Congress named the committee of five to draft the Declaration of Independence. Jefferson wrote the draft, which he submitted to Franklin and Adams and adopted their verbal alterations in a copy reported to the full committee.
1798—Napoleon seized the island of Malta on his Egyptian campaign. The seizure of Malta by the French was the indirect cause of its acquisition by England. After the battle of the Nile and the downfall of Napoleon's oriental schemes the Maltese arose in insurrection and compelled the French to take refuge in the fortress of Valletta. Siege and famine reduced them to straits, and they surrendered to the English, who had come to aid the Maltese. England took the island and has since held it.
1860—The seceders from the Charleston convention met in Richmond.
1870—William Gilmore Simms, author, died at Charleston; born there 1826.

DEATH'S CALL CAME TO MATTHEW CROFT

A FORMER JANESVILLE MAN DEAD

He Is Said To Have Built the First House Constructed On the West Side of the River, and Was a Pioneer of the Early Days—Other Mortuary Mention.

Matthew Croft, an early settler of Janesville and Edgerton, has passed away in Colorado Springs, Col., aged seventy-six years. News of his death was received from Edgerton today. He passed away Tuesday, June 8, his death being the result of injuries received in a street car accident some time ago. He was hit by a car and injured internally.

Mr. Croft built what is believed to be the first house on the west side of the city of Janesville. It was located near the ground where Knapp's brewery now stands. He came to Janesville when the town was very young, and moved to Edgerton soon after that city was founded, his brother James going with him.

Mr. Croft was born in England, and was one of three brothers who came to Rock county together. He was an uncle of T. T., J. L. and James Croft of this city. His daughter is Mrs. Hugh McInnes of Edgerton. He went to Colorado eight years ago with his son, and his remains will rest in the Colorado Springs cemetery.

John Wetmore.

John Wetmore, one of the early settlers of Rock county, died at 8:10 o'clock at his home, 57 Oakland avenue, after an illness of two weeks duration with stomach trouble. Mr. Wetmore had been in poor health for some time previous to his final illness, so his demise was not wholly unexpected.

Mr. Wetmore was born in Winfield, Hekimer county, New York, seventy-two years ago. He came to Wisconsin when it was still a territory in 1846, and settled in the town of Bradford on a farm. About four years ago Mr. and Mrs. Wetmore and their son, Frederick S., moved to Janesville, their son George Earle, taking up the work on the farm. Mr. Wetmore spent much of his time at the farm after moving to this city.

He was married October 31, 1849, to Miss Polly A. Earle, her family having moved from Washington county, Dresden, N. Y., and located at Bradford, Earle Bros., commission merchants of Ohio, are her brothers; also a sister living in Minnesota. He was a kind, indulgent husband and father, an upright, industrious man, who commanded the respect of all who had the honor of his acquaintance, giving his support to the church and all other causes for the uplifting of humanity, in the community where he resided.

His genial, social and vivacious nature drew all to him and won a large circle of friends, who will mourn his death.

Seven children blessed the union of Mr. and Mrs. Wetmore, William Henry, John Courtland of Whitewater, Frank Herbert of Emerald Grove, Flora Belle, George Earle of Bradford, Richard Grove of West Union, Iowa, and Frederick Starr of Janesville.

The eldest died in infancy. The only daughter, Flora Belle, a beautiful and accomplished young lady, died while a student at Milton in 1880, just previous to her graduation, leaving her parents grief stricken and with a shadow upon their hearts and home that time has not lifted. The funeral services will be a prayer at the home at 9:30 Sunday morning. The remains will be taken to Emerald Grove, where services will be held in the church at 11 a. m. The interment will be in the cemetery at that place.

Funeral of Allan Woods.

The funeral of Allan Woods, the infant son of Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Woods, was held from the home of his parents in the Kent flats at 10 o'clock this morning, Rev. W. H. Wotton, of Trinity church, officiating. The interment was made at Oak Hill.

TRY TO KILL GOVERNOR

Dynamite Used to Wreck the Leavenworth Soldiers Home in Hopes of Killing A. J. Church.

Leavenworth, Kansas, June 11—A heavy charge of dynamite was exploded at 5 o'clock this morning, partly destroying the soldiers home. It was the result of a conspiracy to kill Gov. A. J. Smith.

Governor Smith and his wife and his daughter Daisy narrowly escaped death, and Mrs. Smith was severely injured. J. W. Oliver, a dishonorably discharged veteran, was arrested on suspicion of having fired the charge.

One Explanation.

"There's one thing in Harold's favor that every father must admit," exclaimed Mabel, warmly. "He hasn't any expensive habits."

"Yes," replied Miss Cayenne, gently. "But perhaps that is due to the fact that he is getting only eight dollars a week."—Washington Star.

FOOD STRENGTH.

IT COMES FROM THE RIGHT FOOD PROPERLY DIGESTED.

Food strength is natural strength. It is new strength; created strength. That is, it is not stimulation.

The real strength of your body is your constitutional strength, your reserve strength. It is the result of eating proper food and digesting it.

Eating food does no good at all; rather harm—unless it is digested. So that everything narrows itself down to one proposition: How is your digestion?

One person in three of us have indigestion in some form or another. It is not really a disease, but a condition; a condition which may become serious.

We all wish to be strong, and we might all become so if we digested our food. The loss of your strength is a serious matter. It may be the beginning of a dangerous disease. It may mean that you cannot go on with your work.

Shaker Digestive Cordial is an aid to digestion. It is a strength maker. It makes your food nourish you. It makes you strong. It relieves at once all the symptoms of acute dyspepsia, tones up the system and creates flesh, energy and strength. Taken regularly it will permanently cure indigestion and make the weak, thin, irritable, nervous dyspeptic, strong, fat, hearty and well again.

A 10 cent bottle will show you what it will do.

Sold by druggists at 10, 25, 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle.

A HOT "GUN FIGHT" AT THE "WILLOWS"

TRAMPS AND DEPUTY SHERIFFS MEET.

Edward Tully and G. J. Bitzer, the Officers, Are Both Wounded, and Several Hoboes Are Believed to Have Been Hurt—Thugs Captured and Locked Up At Rockford.

Much excitement was caused last evening by a shooting affair just across the state line at Beloit, in which two Winnebago sheriffs were seriously wounded by tramps, and possibly several tramps were injured. The wounded officers are:

EDWARD TULLY, shot in the arm.

G. J. BITZER, shot in the thigh.

Just below Beloit, on the banks of Rock river, is a heavy growth of willows, a favorite retreat for tramps and thugs. While the Illinois and Beloit officers are vigilant in keeping such characters away, they frequently gather there in groups to the terror of near residents and the annoyance of citizens.

Two men were arrested for the shooting and taken to Rockford for trial.

Attacked a Laborer.

The community has been granted immunity from tramp outrages for some time but last night, about 6 o'clock, a workman was walking along the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad on his way home from that city to Rockton, when he was set upon by a dozen ruffians, who demanded his money. Finding he had nothing of value they directed him to return to Beloit, as he could not get by them without paying toll. He reported the incident to Deputy Sheriff Tully, an officer already a terror to tramps and evil doers. Fully summoned another deputy, George F. Bitzer, and two citizens, John Dickup and Cyrus Gould, and they proceeded to the tramps' camp and placed the gang under arrest. They offered no resistance, and divided into three companies, started for Beloit. Officer Tully was looking after one party, Bitzer after another and Gould and Dickup after the third.

Tramps Break Away and Shoot.

They had proceeded but a short distance when Bitzer's gang started to run. Bitzer tried to hold them off, when the tramps opened fire on him, one shot taking effect in his hip. Almost at the same time the tramps of the other two gangs began shooting also and Tully fired two shots at close range at the men near him and turning to direct his shots at Bitzer's gang he was struck on the arm by a bullet. By this time there was a fusillade from both tramps and officers thirty or forty shots being exchanged. The tramps then made off, four going to the city and the rest scattering. Though wounded Tully and Bitzer gave chase and followed the tramps into the city and through the main thoroughfare one of the thugs having a revolver in his hand.

Several Tramps Badly Wounded.

All the fugitives but two were lost sight of. One of the former ran up Third street and Edward Hurst, a citizen who had joined in the pursuit, got him in a corner, whereupon he shot at Hurst, who in return sent two bullets after him. Other officers came upon the scene and arrested the fellow, who had a pocket full of empty cartridge shells. Tully identified him as the one who shot him. A second tramp was arrested a little later. Officer Tully says he knows he shot one man in the face and another in the stomach. A tramp bleeding from wounds in the head, ran through town during the evening. A posse of deputy sheriffs was formed and all tramps about the city were rounded up. The men under arrest are a fierce looking pair.

E. G. FIFIELD REMINISCENT

Today the Anniversary of His Arrival in the Badger State.

"Sixty years ago today," said E. G. Fifield this morning, "I came to Wisconsin. I landed at Milwaukee on June 11, 1837. At that time there was not a frame house in the valley of Rock river in Wisconsin north of Beloit; neither was there a school house, church, postoffice or a store in this valley. Settlers were few and far between. I walked from Milwaukee to Bark River soon after landing, and stopped over night at Prairie Village, since called Prairieville, now Waukesha. There were only two log houses in sight of the road. It was thirty miles from there to the mill at Bark River, and there was no house in that distance."

A TRAIN "HELD UP" BY "HOBOS" THUGS

TRAMPS STOPS THE CHICAGO FAST FREIGHT.

After an Exchange of Shots the Whole Gang Was Rounded Up By the Illinois Authorities, Who Came In Response to a Telegram From Rockton—Men Are All In Jail.

Tramps tried to hold up the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul freight train which left Janesville at 9:15 o'clock p. m. near Rockton last night and the whole party was captured by the officers of Winnebago county.

The train was No. 169, the Chicago fast freight. It left Janesville on time in charge of Conductor A. D. Phelps. The trip south was uneventful until Rockton was reached. When the train pulled out of that city no strange men were seen but a short distance south of that village, armed men attempted to compel the trainmen to stop.

A sharp interchange of shots followed, and it is believed that two of the tramps were shot by the railroad men and officers.

In the meantime a telegraph message was sent to Rockford, notifying the sheriff of Winnebago county. He responded with a posse, and the tramps were all captured after a hard fought battle, and taken to Rockford where they were placed in jail.

Had Much Plunder

The men arrested had a large amount of plunder in their possession. Among the articles recovered was a quantity of hats and several pairs of shoes. It is thought that the goods were stolen from railway cars.

What object the robbers had in holding up the train is not known, but it is thought that they intended to loot the cars, although some of the railroad men and officers think the gang was composed of the men who escaped in the melee at "the Willows" in which Deputy Sheriff Tully and his assistant Bitzer were wounded, earlier in the night, and that they desired to steal the train and escape.

"The Willows" gang is now said to be scattered to the four winds. The members who were not wounded or captured in the state line fracas are believed to have been rounded up with the train robbers.

The local railroad men were all discussing the hold up today, and say they will feel much better now that "the willows" are free of tramps. The hoboes have made much trouble for trainmen, and have annoyed them greatly, although none of the employees have suffered actual violence at their hands.

CHICAGO MARKETS BY WIRE

Robert Lindholm's Letter On the Condition of Crops and Trade.

Chicago, June 11.—[Special to Byrd & Law Commission Co.]—The government report indicates an average condition of eighty two per cent winter and spring. It is among the lowest conditions known. In 1855 when general conditions were seventy nine the crop was 357,000,000 and in 1893 when conditions were eighty nine the crop was 396,000,000. In 1890 the conditions were eighty two and one half and the crop 399,000,000 and in 1888 conditions were eighty and crop 414,000,000.

For the four years the average condition was 73 1/2 and the average crop 392 million. On this basis the present outlook is for a crop of 425 million bushels. Based on last year's average present figures indicate only four hundred million, but as compared with 1894 and 1895 indications are for 460 million of wheat, and this makes the average between the two extremes 430 million as the probable outcome, with chances in favor of less, owing to the late season. The total acreage is about the same as last year, ten per cent reduction in winter and twenty per cent increase in spring wheat, and this forces the inference that the final outcome will be nearer four hundred million than four hundred and sixty million. The calculations are based on the supposition that present reports are correct on spring wheat contrary to general expectations. There has been no increase in the general wheat acreage in recent years, but a reduction in the old territory is more than sufficient to offset the increase in the northwest.

Russia reports large damage to crops, the locust is in South Dakota. Primary receipts are now very small and the stocks in farmers' hands exhausted but the professional trade could not resist the traditional temptation to sell on government reports and they have done so. Reflection may bring about a change of sentiment.

His Pocket Book and Contents Now Missing.

Some days ago Rev. H. W. Thompson thought he had lost his pocket book containing his half-fare permit, certificate of deposit for $200, and other papers, while at the depot, but afterward found the book. "You didn't lose your pocket book today, did you, Mr. Thompson?"

The minister said he "thought not," but when he felt in his pocket, the book was gone. This time, evidently, the book is really lost, as it was not found on the train.

FLORAL FASHIONS.

Violets, Carnations and Orchids—Summer Costume of Two Colors.

Natural flowers are more and more adopted by fashion, and on all social occasions they are used in profusion. At entertainments, balls, dinners, weddings and baptisms they are lavishly employed as decorations, and no preparations for a festivity are complete without them. In Paris they are much worn upon the person by men and women both. For men there is a prescribed mode which tells what particular flower shall be worn in each circumstance of daily life. For the early walk in morning costume a little bunch of Russian violets is selected; for the afternoon, a red carnation; for the dinner, some curious orchid, or, if it is a full dress dinner, a small cluster of Parma violets; at a ball, a carnation which has supplanted the gardenia. The use of wearing flowers in the buttonhole is into disfavor for awhile, but is now revived and thoroughly established.

For women flowers are considered a necessity. Their apartments are always full of flowers, which are renewed daily. It is not advisable, however, to use for the decoration of living apartments varieties having a powerful fragrance, and they are especially out of place in a bedroom at night, as the strong perfume renders a confined place close. It is said that the lily, hyacinth and mimosa affect the throat and should never be placed in a room where there is to be singing.

Every country has its floral emblem. Germany prefers the cornflower and the forget-me-not, Austria the edelweiss, Italy and Denmark the marguerite. As for America, her flower has yet to be definitely selected.

A picture is given of a summer costume in two colors. The skirt is of accordion plaited straw mousseline de sole made over sky blue satin and trimmed around the foot with a wide fall of embroidered tulle headed by a ruche of mousseline de sole. The bodice of sky blue satin is covered with plaited and embroidered ruffles and has a wide corselet belt of black satin. The tight sleeves of blue satin are covered with embroidered tulle and have caps composed of three plaited ruffles of straw gauze. The shoulder knots and collar are of pale blue satin. The hat of white straw is trimmed with embroidered straw gauze. JUDIC CHOLLET.

SUMMER STYLES.

Short Capes Ornamented With Ruches. Velvet Collars and Belts.

Short bodices or boleros opening over blouses, plastrons, jabots and chemisettes are very much worn. Capes also, very short, bordered with ruches around the lower edge and ornamented with various fluffy arrangements of black mousseline de sole, taking the shape of collars, polerines, dalmatics or cravats, are a favorite wrap. Mantles fitted in the back, but partaking of the character of the cape, are the newest feature of the wardrobe, and it is in this direction that one must seek for novelties.

Collars, belts and bows of velvet or satin, green, black or mauve, are charming with light costumes, trimmed with mousseline de sole, and bows and ribbons of white, straw or pale green are equally attractive in dark bodices or those trimmed in contrast with black gauze or lace.

While bodices differing from the skirt are still much worn, the difference is usually in material rather than color, a certain harmony of tint being preserved.

Lattice trimmings are a new feature on bodices and skirts. They are sometimes composed of beads of various kinds mixed together—gold, steel, etc. Embroideries and bead trimmings applied to the breast of the bodice in the oriental style are now seen and are used on costumes not otherwise influenced by eastern taste.

The illustration given today shows a travelling wrap of mastic cloth, ornamented with applications of chestnut velvet. The coat is fitted at the back, but straight in front, where it fastens on the left side. The valois collar and large, square revers are of ivory satin, the cravat of lace. The sleeves are slightly bouffant at the top and have slashed cuffs of ivory satin. The toque of white straw is trimmed with roses and foliage. JUDIC CHOLLET.

The unsuccessful artist who had turned highwayman and murderer stood up at the command of the judge.

"Prisoner," said the judge, "you have been found guilty by a jury of your countrymen of the crime with which you stand charged, and the penalty is death by hanging. Have you anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced upon you in accordance with the verdict?"

"No, your honor," replied the prisoner, with a careless glance at the jury. "It won't be the first time I have been skayed by a hanging committee."—Chicago Tribune.

HOUSE FURNISHINGS.

Enamelled Furniture For the Summer Cottage—Rejuvenating Old Chairs.

This is the time of year when the furnishing of country houses is being seriously considered. Enamelled furniture in white, cream and colors is much liked, being comparatively inexpensive and yet graceful and pretty. Red and willow goods are also extremely desirable, either in the natural tints or stained. There are often old chairs and other articles of furniture in a house which are still serviceable, but have lost their beauty and are therefore relegated to some obscure corner where they are out of sight. These may be repainted and afterward enamelled and made as good as new by some one who has patience and is not afraid of work. One coat of enamel over paint of the same color is much better than several coats of enamel, as the latter is apt to crackle and chip when it is thick. Plain colors are prettiest, but lines of gold or a contrasting tint may be used as a decoration, although these always seem to cheapen the effect. Furniture of plain deal, tables with shelves, couches and chairs having square legs are often completely covered with cretonne or denim, which is fitted smoothly upon them and fastened by gimp and furniture tacks. Flowered cretonnes in bright colors are especially effective for these furniture coverings and for curtains, giving a fresh, summery effect that is very attractive. Loose cushions covered with similar materials are also, of course, a part of the fittings of the summer cottage. Awning cloth is very serviceable for cushion covers and is extremely picturesque in some of the combinations of color shown in wide stripes. Red and yellow, red and white and blue and white are all pretty and easily obtained.

An illustration is given of a costume of green foulard with a printed design in a darker tone of the same color. The skirt is closed on the left side, the edge of the closing being ornamented with a narrow plaiting of green mousseline de sole and a line of gold buttons. The bodice is composed of two crossed draperies of the figured foulard, which are looped at the shoulders to form puffs over the top of the sleeves. The yoke and tight sleeves are of plain green faille embroidered at the neck and wrists with gold. The frills at the throat and sleeves are of white lace. The belt, tied at the side, is of green faille. A capote is worn, made entirely of mauve

GIVES STRENGTH TO MEN

Free To All Who Are Weak And Worn

A METHOD TO CURE AND INCREASE THE POWER.

It is a remarkable fact that a man never appreciates the sufferings of others until he himself has passed through the fire of pain or remorse. Then it is that he looks around, finds those who are suffering; he wants them to profit by his experience; he gives his time and money gladly for the benefit of others and never tires of his zeal. There are plenty of men weak and worn out, struggling with remorse and fear, the natural outcome of habits that brought incapacity; a sense of uselessness and a feeling as if the best side of life had been banished forever. Such men should write to Thomas Slater, Box 394, Kalamazoo, Mich. He will send free by mail, in a plain, sealed envelope, full particulars about the method he used, and this will enable any man to get a complete cure at home. It is the method that Mr. Slater used to cure himself of the troubles that sap the strength and vigor and also enlarged his organs to natural size. The cure was complete, so satisfying and such a wonderful change from his former condition that he will gladly tell others all about it, sending all particulars. He figures that he doesn't know of a better way to show his appreciation of his own cure and sufferings of others. There must be generous men in this world to set the tide of avarice. Write to Mr. Slater—it will cost nothing for his description and method.

CHAPTER X.
WAITING FOR HELP.

If ever a fellow was bewildered by a single speech, it was Richard Gordon. I walked up and down that platform till I was called to breakfast, trying to decide what Miss Cullen had expressed, only to succeed in reading 50 different meanings in her parting six words. I wanted to think that it was her way of suggesting that I deceived myself in thinking that there was anything between Lord Ralles and herself; but, though I wished to believe this, I had seen too much to the contrary to take stock in the idea. Yet I couldn't believe that Madge was a coquette. I became angry and hot with myself for even thinking it for a moment.

Puzzle as I did over the words, I managed to eat a good breakfast and then went into the Cullens' car and electrified the party by telling them of Camp's and Fred's dispatches and how I had come to overhear the former. Mr. Cullen and Albert couldn't say enough about my cleverness in what had really been pure luck and seemed to think I had sat up all night in order to hear that telegram. The person for whose opinion I cared the most, Miss Cullen, didn't say anything, but she gave me a look that set my heart beating like a trip hammer and made me put the most hopeful construction on that speech of hers. It seemed impossible that she didn't care for Lord Ralles and that she might care for me; but, after having had no hope whatsoever, the smallest crumb of a chance nearly lifted me off my feet.

We had a consultation over what was best to be done, but didn't reach any definite conclusion till the station agent brought me a telegram from the post-master general. Breaking it open, I read aloud:

Do not allow service of writ and retain possession of letters according to prior instructions. At the request of this department the secretary of war has directed the commanding officer at Fort Whipple to furnish you with military protection, and you will call upon him at once, if in your judgment it is necessary. On no account surrender United States property to territorial authorities. Keep department notified.

"Oh, splendid!" cried Madge, clapping her hands.

"Mr. Camp will find that other people can give surprise parties as well as himself," I said cheerfully.

"You'll telegraph at once?" asked Mr. Cullen.

"Instantly," I said, rising, and added, "Don't you want to see what I say, Miss Cullen?"

"Of course I do!" she cried, eagerly jumping up.

Lord Ralles scowled as he said: "Yes. Let's see what Mr. Superintendent has to say."

"You needn't trouble yourself," I said. But he followed us into the station. I was disgusted, but at the same time it seemed to me that he had come because he was jealous, and that wasn't an unpleasant thought. Whatever his motive he was a third party in the writing of that telegram and had to stand by while Miss Cullen and I discussed and drafted it. I didn't try to make it any too brief, nor merely asking for a guard and when I might expect it, but giving as well a pretty full history of case, which was hardly necessary.

"You'll bankrupt yourself," laughed Madge. "You must let us pay."

"I'll let you pay, Miss Cullen, if you want," I said. "How much is it, Welpy?" I asked, shoving the blanks in to the operator.

"Nothin' for a lady," said Welpy, grinning.

"There, Miss Cullen," I said. "Does the east come up to that in gallantry?"

"How much is it, Welpy?" I asked. "Do you really mean that man that is no charge?" demanded Madge incredulously, with her purse in her hand.

"That's the size of it," said the operator.

"I'm not going to believe that," cried Madge. "I know you are only deceiving me, and I really want to pay."

I laughed and said, "Sometimes railroad superintendents can send messages free, Miss Cullen."

"How silly of me!" exclaimed Madge. Then she said: "How nice it is to be a railroad superintendent, Mr. Gordon! I should like to be one myself."

That speech really lifted me off my feet, but while I was thinking what response to make I came down to earth with a bounce.

"Since the telegram's done," said Lord Ralles to Miss Cullen in a cool, almost commanding tone, "suppose we take a walk."

"I don't think I care to this morning," answered Madge.

"I think you had better," said his lordship, with such a manner that I felt inclined to knock him down.

To my surprise Madge seemed to hesitate and finally said, "I'll walk up and down the platform if you wish."

Lord Ralles nodded, and they went out, leaving me in a state of mingled amazement and rage at the way he had cut me out. Try as I would I wasn't able to hit upon any theory that supplied a solution to the conduct of either Lord Ralles or Miss Cullen, unless they were engaged and Miss Cullen displeased him by her behavior to me. But Madge seemed such an honest, frank girl that I'd have believed anything sooner than that she was only playing with me.

If I was perplexed, I wasn't going to give Lord Ralles the right of way, and as soon as I had made certain that the telegram was safely started I joined the walkers. I don't think any of us enjoyed the hour that followed, but I didn't care how miserable I was myself so long as I was certain that I was blocking Lord Ralles, and his grumpiness showed very clearly that my presence did that. As for Madge, I couldn't make her out. I had always thought I understood women a little, but her conduct was beyond understanding.

Apparently Miss Cullen didn't altogether relish her position, for presently she said she was going to the car. "I'm sure you and Lord Ralles will be company enough for each other," she said, giving me a flash of her eyes which showed them full of suppressed merriment, even while her face was grave. In spite of her prediction, the moment she was gone Lord Ralles and I pulled apart about as quickly as a yard engine can split a couple of cars.

I moped around for an hour, too unsettled mentally to do anything but smoke and only waiting for an invitation or for some excuse to go into 218. About 11 o'clock I obtained the latter in another telegram and went into the car at once.

Telegram received—I read triumphantly—A detail of two companies of the Twelfth cavalry, under the command of Captain Singer, is ordered to Ash Forks and will start within an hour, arriving at 5 o'clock.

C. D. OLMEAD, Adjutant.

"That won't do, Gordon," cried Mr. Cullen. "The mandamus will be here before that."

"Oh, don't say there is something more wrong!" sighed Madge.

"Won't it be safer to run while there is still time?" asked Albert anxiously.

"I was born lazy about running away," I said.

"Oh, but please, just for once," Madge begged. "We know already how brave you are."

I thought for a moment, not so much objecting, in truth, to the running away as to the running away from Madge.

"I'd do it for you," I said, looking at Miss Cullen so that she understood this time what I meant without using any emphasis, "but I don't see any need of making myself uncomfortable when I can make the other side so. Come along and see if my method isn't quite as good."

We went to the station, and I told the operator to call Rock Butte. Then I dictated:

Direct conductor of Phenix No. 3 on its arrival at Rock Butte to hold it there till further orders.

RICHARD GORDON, Superintendent.

"That will save my running and their chasing," I laughed, "though I'm afraid a long wait at Rock Butte won't improve their tempers."

The next few hours were pretty exciting ones to all of us, as can well be imagined. Most of the time was spent, I have to confess, in maneuvers and struggles between Lord Ralles and myself as to which should monopolize Madge, without either of us succeeding. I was so engrossed with the contest that I forgot all about the passage of time, and only when the sheriff strolled up to the station did I realize that the climax was at hand. As a joke I introduced him to the Cullens, and we all stood chatting till far out on the hill to the south I saw a cloud of dust and quietly called Miss Cullen's attention to it. She and I went to 97 for my fieldglasses, and the moment Madge looked through them she cried:

"Yes, I can see horses, and, oh, there are the stars and stripes! I don't think I ever loved them so much before."

"I suppose we civilians will have to take a back seat now, Miss Cullen," I said. And she answered me with a demure smile worth—well, I'm not going to put a value on that smile.

"They'll be here very quickly," she almost sang.

"You forget the clearness of the air," I said and then asked the sheriff how far away the dust cloud was.

"Yer mean that cattle drive?" he asked. "Bout ten miles."

"You seem to think of everything!" exclaimed Miss Cullen, as if my knowing that distances are deceptive in Arizona was wonderful. I sometimes think one gets the most praise in this world for what least deserves it.

I waited half an hour to be safe and then released No. 3 just as we were called to dinner, and this time I didn't refuse the invitation to eat mine in 218.

We didn't hurry over the meal, and toward the end I took to looking at my watch, wondering what could keep the cavalry from arriving.

"I hope there is no danger of the train arriving first, is there?" asked Madge.

"Not the slightest," I assured her.

"The train won't be here for two hours, and the cavalry had only five miles to cover 40 minutes ago. I must say they seem to be taking their time."

"There they are now!" cried Albert. Listening, we heard the clatter of horses' feet going at a good pace, and we all rose and went to the windows to see the arrival. Our feelings can be judged when across the tracks came only a mob of 30 or 40 cowboys, riding in their usual "show off" style.

"The deuce!" I couldn't help exclaiming in my surprise. "Are you sure you saw a flag, Miss Cullen?"

"Why—I thought—she faltered. "I saw something red, and—I supposed, of course—"

Not waiting to let her finish, I exclaimed, "There's been a fluke somewhere, I'm afraid, but we are still in good shape, for the train can't possibly be here under an hour. I'll get my fieldglasses and have another look before I decide what!"

My speech was interrupted by the entrance of the sheriff and Mr. Camp.

Mr. Isaac Horner, proprietor of the Burton House, Burton, W. Va., and one of the most widely known men in the state was cured of rheumatism after three years of suffering. He says: "I have not sufficient command of language to convey any idea of what I suffered, my physicians told me that nothing could be done and my friends were fully convinced that nothing but death would relieve me of my suffering. In June 1884, Mr. Evans, then salesman for the Wheeling Drug Co., recommended Chamberlain's Ealm. At this time my foot and limb were swollen to more than double their normal size and it seemed to me my leg would burst, but soon after I began using the Pain Balm, the swelling began to decrease, the pain to leave and now I consider that I am entirely cured. Notable Values in Ready-Made Skirts, Silk and Velvet Capes and Wash Goods.

The backward season has thrown thousands of dollars' worth of such merchandise on the market at prices positively less than the cost of manufacture, and the result of Mr. Reid's visit to the market the past week will be found in some of the best offerings of the whole season. Several cases of Wash Goods are among the arrivals and there are many new things among them never seen before.

"Nanola Dimity." Light and dark grounds, including black and white. Sixty pieces of one of the best fabrics produced; width 26 inches; patterns all new. Your guess at the price would say a shilling, but you would have to guess again, for it's 5c.

Fine Organzies (dimity) and Nainsooks The very newest designs and colorings in a large range of styles; mid-season novelties that are different from the ordinary run. Values as never before—per yard, 10c. Width, 30 inches.

CAPEs are necessary for evening wear all summer. To own one of ours is easy; the new line is at half price and less. One of velvet is silk lined, has lace ruche and is embroidered in colors. Twenty of them are offered at $2.87; another of velvet with ribbon ruche, novelty silk lining, is $3.50. One with Empire plait in the back, wide collar of velvet, brocade silk lining, ribbon ruche—$4.00, others up to $7.50. All the above Capes are in black only. Colored Capes are cheaper yet, next to nothing prices.

Silk and Sicilian Skirts. Large patterns are the favorites and this new line displays some handsome designs. They are tailor-made, cut full width, well lined and are positive bargains at the prices, —$2½, $3, $4, $4½, $5, up to $7½ for the silk brocades of ten and twelve dollar values.
